About The Indian Chemical Society

The Indian Chemical Society, a premier Scientific Society of India, was founded in 1924, as a national forum for the community of chemists and members of allied disciplines in the country. The driving force behind its establishment was the nationalistic spirit prevailing in India under British rule and J. N. Mukherjee, J.C. Ghosh and S.S. Bhatnagar while carrying out their research work in the University College, London in 1919 took a decision to establish a Chemical Society like the Chemical Society of London. Their cherished dream was transformed into a reality with active cooperation of many of the leading personalities in the country, and the Indian Chemical Society was founded on May 9, 1924, as a registered Society, with Acharya Prafulla Chandra Ray, the father of Indian Chemists, as the first President.

About the Seminar

Standing on this era we feel academia and industry need to work in tandem in order to ensure seamless working for a better world in the present time as well as in the future, which was dreamed by Acharya PC Ray long back with a nationalistic view during the British rule in India. In this conference, with the interactive discourse among experts from the industries, scientists, research scholars, students and faculty members of the academic world, as well as the stakeholders will be acquainted with the real life issues and concerns that need immediate attention. Industry may also utilize the high quality research to benchmark their products and services in a highly competitive global scenario.
